Carahsoft Named 2011 Business Development Partner of the Year by HP

Reston, VA – September 7, 2011 -- Carahsoft Technology Corp., the trusted government IT solutions provider, today announced that it has been recognized as the Business Development Partner of the Year for 2011 by HP. Carahsoft was chosen to receive this award for its outstanding sales and marketing collaboration with HP for public sector clients. Over the past two years, Carahsoft's team has conducted more than 100 marketing events and collaborated with HP to win local, state and federal government clients around the world. The announcement was made at HP DISCOVER Americas 2011, HP's enterprise technology education and training event.

Carahsoft collaborates with HP Software to deliver top-tier IT software solutions for public sector organizations. As a true specialist in understanding and addressing public sector IT requirements, with experience in government marketing, sales, and GSA contract program management, Carahsoft has a proven history of helping government agencies find the best HP software and solutions at the best possible value.

"We are honored to be recognized again by HP for our support of the company's efforts in the public sector market," said Craig P. Abod, president of Carahsoft. Carahsoft was named HP's Public Sector Partner of the Year in 2010. "Carahsoft will continue to dedicate resources to our HP team to accelerate public sector growth over the next year."

"Our collaboration with Carahsoft demonstrates our joint commitment to help federal, state and local government agencies optimize their technology investments to deliver greater value," said Steve Erdman, vice president and general manager, Channels and Alliances, Software, HP. "As an HP Partner of the Year, Carahsoft has effectively helped the public sector clients simplify their complex data center solutions and transform their businesses through the innovative use of HP products and services."
