Carahsoft Named ClearCube Technology 2010 Federal Partner of the Year

RESTON, VA, November 9, 2010 -Carahsoft Technology Corp., the trusted government IT solutions provider, today announced that it has been named the 2010 ClearCube Technology Federal Partner of the Year. The award was presented to Carahsoft at ClearCube Technology's annual Worldwide Sales meeting.

In presenting the award, Mark Taylor, ClearCube's vice president of sales, said: "Carahsoft has set itself apart from a distinguished class of partners with its innovative marketing and high level of execution."

Carahsoft has served as ClearCube Technology's GSA aggregator since 2007, proactively marketing and selling ClearCube's comprehensive, high-performance centralized computing and virtual desktop solutions, as well as supporting its other public sector resellers.

"There is no higher honor for our team than to be selected as partner of the year," said Will Jones, director of sales for Carahsoft's VMware and Complementary Virtualization Technologies business unit. "We look forward to continuing to drive demand for ClearCube's solutions which complement our virtualization product line and enable us to provide a full end-to-end solution for customers looking to centralize desktop computing."

This is the second award Carahsoft's virtualization team has received this year. In February 2010, Carahsoft received a VMware Partner Network global award during the VMware Partner Exchange 2010 in recognition of its being named Partner of the Year for VMware's SpringSource (now vFabric) product line.
