Precise Positioned in Visionaries Quadrant of Magic Quadrant for Application Performance Monitoring

Evaluation based on Completeness of Vision and Ability to Execute

Redwood Shores, Calif. – April 6, 2010 – Precise thanks Gartner for positioning the company in the Visionaries quadrant of the Magic Quadrant for Application Performance Monitoring (APM)<sup>1</sup>. Precise customers, partners and market analysts regard the inaugural Magic Quadrant report as a trusted compass for the IT industry.

"We are excited to see the market momentum of the transaction performance management space," said Mark Kremer, CEO of Precise. "We believe Gartner's Magic Quadrant report is a good reflection of the investments and interest our customers place in TPM initiatives; we are proud to be an APM visionary."

Precise Transaction Performance Management (TPM) is an integrated solution across all five dimensions of APM as identified by Gartner: end-user experience monitoring, user-defined transaction profiling, application component discovery and modelling, application component deep-dive monitoring; and application performance management database capabilities. Precise TPM is an automated performance management solution for all major packaged applications as well as complex, custom applications built on Java and .NET frameworks.
