

ConnectSolutions Announces Support for Cisco Jabber XCP

What is being announced?

ConnectSolutions has extended its Collaboration Private Cloud platform to support Cisco Jabber XCP. Jabber provides integrated presence and chat capabilities, which when combined with Adobe Connect, offers organizations essential tools for a true enterprise web conferencing solution.

Why is this being announced?

Over the past several years, we have seen an increasing number of organizations evaluating Adobe Connect based on its interoperability with existing presence and instant messaging platforms. As unified communication momentum has increased, the importance of interoperability has also increased for purchasing decisions. ConnectSolutions has been supporting a large Cisco Jabber deployment for some time now, and believes this extended offering will increase the competitive success that it and its partners will have in enterprise web conferencing opportunities.

What is the opportunity for my organization?

ConnectSolutions' reselling partners have the ability to immediately sell this solution and drive customer success. This offering increases your ability to remain competitive by providing a complete private cloud environment to leverage the product investments that Adobe has placed in the Connect product line (XMPP chat pod integrated presence within meeting rooms)

How much does the service cost?
